Moscow, Russia. 22 January. The investment company O1 Properties, one of the largest owners of the A class office property in Moscow, held the 'Give Joy on New Year's day' charity campaign aimed at gathering gifts for sick children, orphans and children from disadvantaged families. This is already the second project implemented together with the 'Miloserdie' service.

New Year postcards with wishes of the children written on them were traditionally hung on New Year trees in common areas of the business-centers. Anyone who wished to could choose and buy an indicated gift, which would be later on delivered to the recipient by the volunteers of the 'Miloserdie' service.

According to the results of the campaign, the company's employees and tenants of the business-centers gathered nearly 800 gifts, which were presented to children during the New Year holidays. The most popular gifts were children's toys, sweets and sports equipment.

The 'Give Joy on New Year's day' charity campaign was launched in 2014. After receiving a tremendous amount of positive feedback on the initiative, the top-management of O1 Properties decided to make the collection of gifts for children in need an annual event.
