O1 Properties is supporting Earth Hour action

Moscow, Russia. March 22, 2017. Investment company O1 Properties, one of the largest owners of class A office real estate in Moscow, will participate for the sixth time in the Earth Hour initiative, organized by the World Wildlife Fund. External lighting at the Company's business centers will be turned off for one hour from 20.30 on March 25.

Alexander Ostrovsky, the CEO of O1 Properties said: "Support for the environment is an important part of O1 Properties' commitment to corporate social responsibility. The company implements and maintains standards of environmental efficiency at its business centers, ensures efficient consumption of resources, and invests in the creation around its buildings of green recreation zones, which diversify the urban landscape. By taking part in the Earth Hour global initiative, we express our solidarity with everyone who cares about the future of our planet."

Earth Hour is an initiative of the World Wildlife Fund (WWF), which encourages people and companies to turn off lights and other non-vital electrical appliances. The purpose of the action, which takes place on the last Saturday of March and lasts for one hour, is to highlight the problems of climate change. Every year Earth Hour is supported by state and municipal institutions, companies and people around the world, who turn off the lights at a huge variety of sites, including historical and architectural monuments.

Details can be found on the Earth Hour website.
